5. Discussion Items

- During the meeting, the chief provided a detailed presentation on the newly implemented command structure for the police department, highlighting the specific changes. The presentation was informative and allowed for questions and feedback from attendees.
- The new officers were formally introduced to the board members, who were provided with detailed information about their experience, qualifications, and the specific roles they would be undertaking within the organization. The introduction allowed the board to meet and welcome the new hires and ask any questions they may have had about the organization or the new employees' responsibilities.

- During the meeting, the chief of the police department proudly announced the much-anticipated promotions of several police officers for their outstanding performance and dedication to their duties. The chief highlighted each officer's exceptional contributions to the department and their commitment to serving and protecting the community. The officers were recognized and congratulated by the boards for their well-deserved promotions.

6. Open Discussion

- One possible way to enhance the efficiency and effectiveness of police department operations during events is by utilizing volunteers.
- Using volunteers from the Citizens Police Academy is one way to involve community members in supporting law enforcement efforts.
- The surveillance cameras installed in Doral Glades Park appear inoperable and not functioning as intended.
