WHEREAS, polystyrene is made from styrene, a petroleum byproduct which is nonrenewable and a heavily polluting resource; and

WHEREAS, styrene is a known neurotoxin that is classified as reasonably anticipated to be a human carcinogen (meaning there is significant evidence linking styrene to human cancers); and

WHEREAS, polystyrene is not recyclable and once discarded persists in the environment for years; and

WHEREAS, polystyrene is often used to make the foam cups, plates, and clamshells that are sometimes referred to as Styrofoam, however, other forms of polystyrene are used to make certain clear or solid plastic cups, lids, straws, utensils, as well as other food-service ware; and wildlife and residents; and

WHEREAS, there are affordable alternatives to polystyrene foam that may be used to store products, foods, and beverages, such as coated and uncoated paper, and compostable plant fiber products (such as Bagasse made from sugar cane, bamboo, palm, and other rapidly compostable resources); and

WHEREAS, although the City is preempted from regulating the use or sale of polystyrene products, pursuant to Section 500.90, Florida Statutes, the preemption does not limit the authority of a local government to restrict the use of polystyrene by individuals on public property, temporary vendors on public property, or entities engaged in a contractual relationship with the local government for the provision of goods or services; and
